O Canada

Calixa Lavallee

Arranged by David Marlatt

Calixa Lavallée, a pianist and composer, was asked in early 1880 to write music for a national song to be performed at the French-Canadian National Festival. After the music was written, the festival president Ernest Gagnon asked Sir Adolphe-Basile Routhier to write appropriate words for this new composition. It is also a fact that Gagnon suggested the first line to Routhier "O Canada, terre des nos aieux". Even before its first public performance, the Quebec press proclaimed: "at last we have a truly French-Canadian National Song". Although originally intended for French-Canadians, it became popular all over the country and was proclaimed Canada's national anthem in 1980, 100 years after it was first sung.

Following the first English performance in Toronto in 1901 there have been several English texts, the most widely used being the version by Mr. Justice Robert Stanley Weir written in 1908. The French lyrics remain unaltered from Sir Routhier's version. Over the years there have been some slight lyric alterations made with words being substituted. Often it is performed with a mix of English and French. In almost all instances, just the first verse is sung.

True patriot love in all of us command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North strong and free!

O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
